Atty. Names Four-Member Committee

Two clergymen, a college professor and a United Fund official were named this week to tabulate responses to a town employee survey on the new classification and pay plan.

Atty. Irving Newman, legal counsel for the Town Employees Assoc., said Tuesday at a meeting of the organization that he expects the four-man committee to organize sometime next week.

He reported that he has received 86 sealed envelopes and said that he believes a number of them contain more than one response. He told members they can "safely assume" that at least 95 returns were made.

Selected by Newman for the evaluation committee are: Frank A. Maloney, executive director for the North Shore United Fund in Salem, a resident at 8 Sterling St.; Dr. George Wermers, 19 Ken-

Andover Junior Bound For Philippine Home

MISS KATHLEEN MULLER

Kathleen Muller, an Andover High School junior, is boning up on Tagalog in the hope that she can at least be equipped to talk about the weather when she moves in this summer with a family in the Philippines.

Miss Muller has only known for a week that she will represent the American Field Service in Lucena City from June to September but she is already prepared with enough facts about her summer homeland to deliver a fact-crammed travelogue.

This, she says, is because AFS is bombarding her with bulky brown envelopes crammed with information they expect to be useful.

Kathy is one of two AFS applicants to clear the local chapter with an application, and the single one cleared by the national AFS office for immediate placement.

The Philippines isn't exactly what Kathy, an ardent student of French, had in mind, but she has switched her allegiance with vigor and is trying to add a little Spanish to her vocabulary along with the Tagalog that is native to the islands. This is more an act of international goodwill than a necessity for her Philippines "mother" teaches college English and is principal of an elementary school.

The Carlos Cavierto family lives in Lucena City, a college town with a population of 12,000 to 14,000. Under its roof are three teenage children and a niece and nephew. Mr. Cavierto is connected with military and teaches military statistics and history.

Miss Muller will leave Boston June 15 for San Francisco and fly out to Manila the next day. School will still be in session in the Philippines and Kathy is to be enrolled at the Maryknoll Academy for a schedule that will include Philippine history, math, Tagalog and maybe some French because Kathy would like to see how it is taught in another language.

AFS asked Miss Muller, as it does all applicants, what they feel qualifies them to represent their country abroad.

She offered as her first ranking qualification the fact that she comes from a long line of landmark fans. She has travelled with her parents and family to just about every historic landmark in Pennsylvania, New York and Massachusetts, as well as some points South.

This, she feels, will enable her to share more of what is the USA with her family abroad.

Miss Muller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Muller, 23 Bartlett St.

Four Elected As Teachers

Four teachers were appointed by the School Committee Tuesday and permission to hire another four given Supt. Edward I. Erickson.

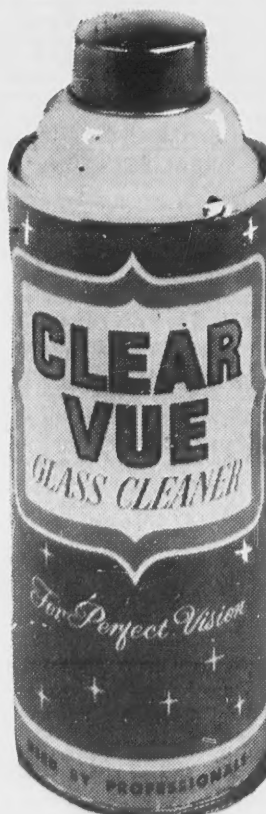

Elected were: Mrs. Hester Ames of Tyngsboro who will teach grade five at Sanborn School, Mrs. Ames is a graduate of Plymouth Teachers College and will receive her masters degree in June. She has had public school experience.

Mrs. Dorothy Simpson, Nashua, a graduate of Keene Teachers College, will teach second grade at West School. She has New Hampshire and Florida teaching experience, and is currently doing graduate work at the University of New Hampshire.

The third teacher elected was Marion Fahey of Andover, graduate of Framingham Teachers College with Boston and Brookline teaching experience.

Mrs. Elizabeth Romeo of Andover was the fourth elected. She will teach kindergarten at Sanborn School part-time. A Columbia University graduate, Mrs. Romeo has taught in both public and private schools. For the last few years she has worked with kindergartens and nurseries in the area and is now at West Parish Nursery.

Flashing Light Found Confusing

An hour too soon for lunch, a General Baking Co. bread truck spread its wares on Main St. Tuesday after abrupt contact with an idle car.

Hilda J. Johnston, 180 Jenkins Rd., noted the flashing red light at Chestnut and Main, set to compensate for the fact that the signals have not been properly timed for some weeks.

She was already 22 ft. into the intersection when she made her full-stop, however, which led to damage of both fenders, the bumper and truck of her car. The truck, driven by Craig S. Rand, 122 Taft St., was undamaged but bread losses were heavy.

Last month, when the CO-OP distributed CASH refunds based on 1964 purchases, to its large family of thrifty shoppers, the Paul A. Hoods, of Holt Road, Andover, decided a further family distribution of their share of CO-OP earnings was in order.

Accordingly, Paul, Bruce and Sydney-Anne will share the windfall equally - and will use the money to attend summer camp.

Cafe Owners Protest Talk Of Boost In Liquor Fees

Three cafe operators told the Board of Selectmen Monday that they cannot afford any increase in liquor license fees, much less the 100 percent boost hinted at by the town manager recently.

Victor DeGregorio, who owns the Central Cafe on Post Office Ave. took issue with an earlier quote from the manager suggesting that local liquor license fees could be doubled without hurting anyone. Manager Richard Bowen said he did not mean to suggest that each type of liquor fee could or should be doubled; merely that the town's overall income on liquor licenses could perhaps be doubled.

There to object with DeGregorio were Diane Lane, manager of the Andover Grill and Tommy Carroll of Embassy Lounge.

Members of the Board pointed out that fees for all types of licenses issued by the town are being reviewed, and that comparison figures on liquor fees charged by neighboring communities have been collected. Bowen said Andover's are comparable with all but those charged by Lawrence.

The cafemen objected to any comparison with Lawrence whose establishments they said, draw customers from a wide area. Andover bars are dependent upon local traffic, they explained.

Local license fees currently range between $100 (for a package store) and $500 (for innholders) while Lawrence charges from $500 to $1,500 for licenses.

Sjostrom In Organ Concert

Ivar Sjostrom will present the second Organ Concert in the 1965 series at Methuen Memorial Music Hall at 8:30 p.m. May 19.

Appearing with him will be Harpist Ann Cobb and Flutists Nancy and Richard Jerome.

Sjostrom, an Andover resident, is organist and choir director at Second Church, Newton. Wednesday's program will include selections from John Stanley, Bach, Handel, Mozart, Dupre and Vierne.

Wheaton Club ELECTS OFFICERS

Miss Blair Danzoll of Abbot Academy was elected president of the Merrimack Valley Wheaton Club at the alumnae group's annual meeting. Other officers elected were: Miss Marion Callaghan, vice president; Mrs. John K. Colby, secretary; Miss Barbara Loomer, treasurer.

Mrs. Johnston Bird announced that in the past ten years the selling of Holland bulbs has contributed generously to the college scholarship fund. Anyone wishing to purchase bulbs, may do so by contacting Mrs. Bird, club officers, or any of the following members: Mrs. F. Tyler Carlton, Mrs. Cleveland Gilcrest, Mrs. Dixon B. Relief Funds Sought Here

Funds are needed to help alleviate the suffering of disaster victims in Ohio and Indiana. Donations for this cause are being sought by Wolf Berthold, local disaster chairman for the American Red Cross.

Berthold reports that late Red Cross figures show that in Ohio, 54 are reported dead; 609 injured; 388 homes destroyed and 633 homes damaged. In Indiana, 130 are reported dead; 1153 injured; 1233 homes destroyed and 1964 damaged.

Coordinated group efforts continue to provide assistance to disaster victims. Some 800 volunteer nurses and 30 staff nurses have been assigned to the stricken areas. National Staff at work in the two states now total 96.

Contributions may be addressed to the Andover RC chapter and specified for disaster relief.

Mrs. Robert Dunn and Mrs. Rudolph Perron are on the planning committee for the annual spring banquet of the Merrimack Valley chapter of the Massachusetts Mothers of Twins Assoc., Inc. to be held Tuesday at the Butcher Boy Restaurant, at 6:30 p.m.

WALKING OFF WITH THE TROPHY FOR FIRST PRIZE is Earl Simon, left, president of the Andover Male Choir, following the competition at Saturday's 45th annual concert and contest of the New England Federation of Male Glee Clubs. Wilder Greeley, president of the federation made the presentation. Andover was host to the six groups participating, three of them in direct competition with the local group led by J. Everett Collins. The choir will next appear in a presentation of Elijah at Cochran Chapel May 16 and later at a benefit for the Andover Teachers Scholarship Fund May 26.

Teachers Press Board For Signed Agreement

The Andover Teachers Assoc. has asked the School Committee to come to grips with a decision on the request for an agreement of recognition and professional procedures presented in November.

Basically, the agreement requested, would establish the association as the bargaining agent for the school system's professional staff. On its membership roles are 201 of the 216 teachers and administrators eligible.

The School Committee established some months ago that it could legally make such an agreement with the teachers group, but that its action could not be considered binding on future committees. The make-up of the board has changed, in fact, since this legal opinion was sought. Two new members were elected in March. Officials of the association told the committee at its last meeting that nine school committees in the Commonwealth have signed the agreement. Members of the local committee, however, take issue with some aspects of the agreement and refused to do more than re-table the proposal for later consideration.

Specifically the agreement sought would recognize the local association, an affiliate of the state teachers association and the National Education Assoc., as "the agency through which the teachers of the school system develop and represent their considered opinion on matters of concern . . ."

One clause that has brought objections would establish that the association, the committee or the superintendent could in effect, call a joint meeting with a written request. Dr. Louis Galbiati particularly took exception last week to the idea of "having someone else call a meeting" of the School Committee.

Chairman Robert Sherman questions the clause which says that "facts, opinions, proposals and counterproposals will be freely exchanged in good faith during the meeting . . ." Interpretations of term "good faith" could vary, he suggests. "It is easy to say that discussions are NOT held in good faith, and difficult to defend," in his opinion.

The agreement would permit either group to call in "competent professional and lay representatives to consider matters under discussion and make suggestions," and would call for all agreements reached at such conferences to become "part of the official minutes of the school committee, and . . . a part of the written policies . . ."

Asked for a one-year contract dated July 1, 1966, but it has been agreed that this date would have to be altered to coordinate with town elections. As it stands, the agreement would be renewed automatically unless either the association or committee gave a 60-day warning that renewal would not be accepted.

Rutter Heads Youth Center

Climaxing a 71 year history, the Andover Youth Center held its annual meeting last week and elected Harold Rutter president.

Hallowell Jr., Mrs. Philip Allen, Charles Adams, James Doherty, Stafford Lindsay, Judge Paul Perocchi, Mrs. Walter Partridge, Chief David Nicoll, Harry Axelrod, Lincoln Giles and Fred Harrison.

Serving on the center staff through the winter months were Donald Dunn, director, Mrs. Donald Dunn, Robert McClary, William Tomlinson, Charles Adams, Mrs. Frederick Polgreen, Calvin Deyermund, George Borrelli, Carol Core, Donna Roy, Marion Sparks, Robert Bryan, Charles Murnane, Norman Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Fairfield, Elizabeth Place, Frank Monette, James Early, John Daly, Frank Munroe, Karl Lippman, Mrs. Norman Stowell, Mrs. Thomas Lamson, Robert Seddon Jr. and Mrs. Philip Vigeant.

Board Wants School Specs

Manager Richard Bowen and the Board of Selectmen responded this week to the School Committee's request for a building committee with a counter-request for educational specs.

The school board wrote last week asking that Bowen immediately appoint a committee to get to work on plans for an 18 to 20 room elementary school for the South end of town.

The request said Bowen Monday, is "premature." He said he has been told that educational specifications for such a school are not yet ready, and he pointed out additionally that he was told only recently that the school would not be needed until 1968.

Following the School Committee's lead, the Selectmen replied with a "formal" letter calling for specs.

Chamber's Annual Dinner Scheduled For June 17

The Andover Chamber of Commerce has scheduled its annual dinner for June 17 at Andover Country Club and named Atty. Richard Sullivan chairman.

The board of directors has agreed that two awards will be made at the dinner meeting, one to the outstanding chamber member of the year and the other to the outstanding citizen.

Co-chairmen of the selection committee for the Community Service Award will be Paul McVey and Selectman Robert A. Watters. This award to an outstanding citizen has gone in previous years to David MacDonald, chairman of the Andover Urban Redevelopment committee and Fred S. Tarbox, chairman of the committee for the Regional Vocational Technical High School.

A plaque listing winners of the citizen's award is to be presented to the town for posting in Town Hall.

The Chamber's recognition of its outstanding member is given as The President's Award.

Detailed plans for the annual meeting include a social hour from 6 to 7 p.m., dinner at seven and a program and installation of officers following.

The election is to be handled by mailed ballot with Robert W. Phinney President A. D. MacLaren and Marion Carpenter serving on the nominating committee, Phinney is chairman.

At their meeting this week Chamber directors voted a unique tribute to William W. Rhoads, making him an honorary member of the organization and citing his efforts as chairman for the Founders' Day Dinner held Thursday, Rhoads, a retired Pennsylvania railroad executive, makes his home in Andover.

Bowen Favors Ponds Contract

The Selectmen were reluctant to take firm action this week on Manager Richard Bowen's suggestion that he call for bids on the first, Mary McCabe and second, Cynthia Johnson.

Narcissi, small cupped, first, Mrs. Royal.

charge more than a year ago. Bowen talked in terms of an annual bid, but admitted that such a short term contract might not be realistic because of the necessity for an investment in certain basic fixtures.

The plan now is for the manager to learn what investment the present concessionaire has already made in the summer business and report back with more detailed recommendations.

Bowen also told the Board he favors a long-term lease arrangement for the space in the Ballardvale Community Center rented out as a store. He says he has been told the present occupant is receptive to a long-term agreement now that the property is to be improved. Already underway is the first work on $3,000 worth of repairs etc, voted for the center at the last Town Meeting.

The Ballardvale store is leased on a month-to-month basis to Emil Blanchette for $100 a month.

She is a past president of both her local historical society and the Newton District Nursing Assoc.

Mrs. Rogers is married to Dr. Horatio Rogers, surgeon at Massachusetts General Hospital. Her father was a partner in the wool manufacturing firm, M. T. Stevens & Sons, and some of the collection at the textile museum is of pieces she inherited from him.

Special Permit Granted Doctor

The Board of Selectmen waived its usual tight control over gravel pits Monday to permit an Andover doctor to move some 40,000 sq. yds. of sand and gravel in preparation of a site for home construction.

Dr. Earl J. Waddington and his wife have already moved top soil onto the lot (well to the rear of property fronting on Lowell St. near the old Richardson School) to replace the gravel that must be removed.

The Board waived the usual legal advertisement period and permit fee since the project involved only a single owner and a single parcel and was not a commercial venture.

In recommending the waiver, Manager Richard Bowen said what the Waddingtons propose is essentially an improvement of property. A permit would not ordinarily be required in such an instance but was requested because of the extraordinary amount of gravel to be excavated.

Bible Clubs Close Season

Closing out a busy season, the Andover Bible Clubs held their annual picnic Saturday at 17 Strawberry Hill Rd.

Among activities was a visit to Andover Bible Chapel and an explanation of its functions by Peter Pell of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The Happy Hour Bible Club will meet Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the home of Miss Beulah Dennison, 116 High St.

• For 41 years service, Miss Catherine Barrett, principal at Central School since 1933, Miss Barrett came to the school system in 1924 as a teacher at the old Osgood School and later served in three other elementary schools prior to her present position.

Honored though absent were Mrs. Gertrude Hardy and Miss Alice Stack, both of whom have been Andover teachers for 42 years.

Mrs. Hardy, now at Andover High School, started at the old Punchard High, and Miss Stack, a teacher at Central School, joined the system in 1923 at Stowe.

A NEW SET OF NEWCOMERS officials, elected Tuesday at the organization's annual meeting. Seated, Mrs. John Carmichael, treasurer and Mrs. Wilfred Shelley, secretary. (Cobb)

Joint Venture

The honoring of these and the total 141 employees who have been with the town 10 or more years was a joint project of the Board of Selectmen and the Andover Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber was host for the beef roast dinner to employees receiving service pins, and their husbands and wives.

Pins were given, one posthumously, to people whose careers with the town span 1,270 years.

Chairman Philip K. Allen acted as official spokesman for the Selectmen, addressing the some 330 guests, civic leaders and business men with reference to the early history of the community, and its incorporation on May 6, 1946.

In his remarks, Chamber President Archibald D. MacLaren said he was encouraged by the "new healthy feeling" of cooperation between government and business leaders. There have been, he said, times past when he was convinced Andover's smartest citizen was the "gentleman in buckskin with feathers in his hair who sold the whole town for an old coat and six pounds." (He referred to the founding fathers transaction with Chief Cutshumache for the land that has become Andover.)

Both Allen and MacLaren paid tribute to William W. Rhoads who was the Chamber's chairman for the dinner meeting.

Pins to 25 year employees were presented by Chairman Allen. Twenty-year pins were presented by Selectman William Stewart, 15 year pins by Paul W. Cronin, and 10 year pins by Roger W. Collins and Robert A. Watters, also members of the Board.

Also on the brief program: Manager Richard Bowen, who originated the Founders' Day idea; Rev. Frederick B. Noss of South church who gave the invocation and benediction; the Madrigal Singers of Andover High School who were given a standing ovation; and a student musical group called The Triads who provided dinner music.

Sandwich Shop Gets A License

Stating that its decision should not be considered precedential, the Board of Selectmen Monday approved a common victuallers license for the Atlantic Submarine Sandwich Shop, already operating at 211 N. Main St.

Investigation following the shop's recent opening disclosed that operators believed the Board of Health clearance they received was the only sort of permission necessary for their business to meet legal requirements.

Selectman William Stewart went along with the rest of the Board, and the manager, in agreeing that application to the Board of Health was an indication of good intentions.

Nevertheless, said Stewart, "we can't set a precedent of this nature. When people start a business without a license it is not right and shouldn't be allowed."

Also cleared: a common victuallers license for the Friendly Ice Cream Shop due to open at Main St. next month.

Wild Flower Gardens To Open For Public

Because Bostonians discovered the charm of wild flower gardens at least twenty years before the rest of the country, each year the New England Wild Flower Society can arrange a memorable wild garden tour with hardly a repetition among the gardens from year to year.

Seven gardens and estates within a 15 mile radius of the city will be open this spring in the Needham - Dover area. Each one is outstanding in its variety and quality of plant material.

Listed in order for convenient viewing are the following:

1. Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Cabot, 653 Chestnut St., Needham.

This garden received the gold medal of the Mass. Horticultural Society for 1965. There is a partly formal garden near the house which has a pleasant transition to an informal garden with many wild flowers.

2. Mrs. John Wells Farley, 898 South St., Needham.

An interesting garden in existence since 1918. It is naturalistic in feeling with a pond, brook and hilly land informally planted with many wild flowers, spring bulbs, flowering shrubs and trees.

3. Mrs. Arthur Adams, Wilson-dale Rd., Dover.

The garden is a country setting for a beautiful old house, part of which is at least three hundred years old. A spacious lawn with informal planting around and beyond it is a feature of the garden. There is a notable planting of espalliered fruit trees and there are also many old flowering shrubs and trees.

4. Mr. and Mrs. Lucien B. Taylor, Farm St., Dover.

This is just about the best known man-made wild flower garden in the country according to horticulturists. The Taylors started with a hayfield and now have 20 foot birch trees, a brook bordered with cardinal flowers, orchids and ferns, a big stand of fringed gentians grown from seed, and practically every other native plant you can think of plus plenty of foreign rarities too.

At this garden the Wild Flower Society will have a book stall and coffee will be available between one and five. Here also guests have been invited to bring picnic lunches and hear Mrs. Taylor give a short talk followed by a question period on wild flowers and wild flower gardening between one and two.

5. Mr. Frederic H. Curtiss, Ded-ham St., Dover.

There are formal gardens on both sides of the street which are in keeping with the fine old house. Weeping mulberry trees are featured in one garden with a rose garden beyond it. There is a wooded walk, with native wild flowers leading to a spring and, behind the house, a meadow leading down to the Charles River.

6. Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Wilson, Centre St., Dover.

A naturalistic garden in a natural setting for a wealth of native wild flowers as well as many introduced species. The surrounding hilly land has been planted with unusual success. A brook runs through the garden.

7. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Crothers, Main St., Medfield.

A house designed and built over 25 years ago by Nathaniel Saltonstall, beautifully landscaped with espalliered trees and shrubs. A pond and brook beside the house are partly formal in feeling and there are woods beyond them with many ferns, shrubs and natural wild flowers.

The Tour will last from 10 to 5 on Saturday, May 22 (in case of rain Sunday, May 23 from 12 to 5:30). Tickets may be purchased in advance from the Wild Flower Society, Horticultural Hall, Boston, or at each garden gate the day of the tour. The proceeds will benefit the Society's Educational Fund.

Mrs. Waters Kellogg and Mrs. Munro Leaf of Andover will be among the ticket takers, guides, hosts and hostesses.

Bridge To Benefit Student Exchange

Duplicate bridge for neophytes or experts, and other card games may be played to benefit the American Field Service on Thursday evening May 20 at 7:30 p.m. at Andover High School.

The Andover Duplicate Bridge Club sponsors this annual event to help the Andover Chapter American Field Service finance its exchange scholarships. This year Andover High School has a student from Paraguay, Luis Gorostiaga, and will send Miss Kathryn Muller an Andover junior, to the Philippines in June.

Guests may make up their own tables, come alone or in pairs. Bridge of all types will be offered and master points for those playing duplicate can be won. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Herbert Lake, Robert Klieor Mrs. William Pratt.

Classes Visit

Three ninth grade classes taking the enriching language laboratory course under the direction of Mrs. Henry DeCesare, visited Memorial Hall Library this week. Each group spent an hour in the main reading room looking up the book numbers of volumes on the subject they wished to read about, or looking up magazine articles in the "Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature." The class was split into teams, each with a leader. The teams selected topics for research. Tobacco, juvenile delinquency, prisons, South Vietnam, unsolved murders in New England, institutions for young people in Massachusetts, are among those the ninth grade wished to know more about. Not unnaturally their interests are in their age group, the problems some teens have, the present state of the courts and aid for those of their age group who are in trouble. If a topic is in the headlines, it is one young adults want to know more about. During the next six weeks these teams will be studying the armloads of material found. Each will give an oral report to the whole class. In presentations they will use a panel format augmented by audio visual material, much of it prepared by themselves. A written report is compiled by the team and exhibited later at the library.

People Oppose Increases In Income Taxes

Statewide opposition to higher income taxes crosses party lines, according to statistics collected for the latest opinion research poll.

Released by the Massachusetts Taxpayers Assoc., the study was done by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton N. J. and discloses the following: Democrats (68%), Republicans (79%) and Independents (73%) agree a higher income tax is not the best source for additional tax money in Massachusetts. Of those families with income under $5,000, 68% feel the same way, as do 71% of those families with income over $5,000.

Faced with this statement: "A sales tax is the best source for additional tax money in Massachusetts," the voters reacted this way: 42% agreed, 49% disagreed; 9% had no opinion.

A growing majority of voters, 72 percent as compared to 52 percent in 1964, feel strongly that high property taxes are a serious problem in Massachusetts.

Asked to react to this statement: "Governor Volpe has proposed a good program to solve the state's financial problems," 49 percent of the public agreed, thirty-three percent disagreed, and 18 percent had no opinion.

Citizen resistance to the need for new taxes seems to be diminishing, judging from voter reaction to: "No new taxes are really needed now." The "agree" figure dropped to 44% from the 62% of 1962.

Sixty-four percent agreed the state should pay a larger share of local public school costs. Only sixteen percent disagreed, and 20 percent had no opinion.

The voters (57%) also felt the state should set and enforce standards for operation of the public schools. Only 24 percent disagreed. But in a seemingly contradictory vein, 42% of the voters felt local school committees should not be controlled by the state. Twenty-seven percent felt they should be.

Firemen Train For Self-Help

Every man in the Andover Fire Department has completed a course in medical self-help, taught by Dep. John Cole in connection with a program to equip people to meet personal and family health needs in a time of disaster.

Chief Henry Hilton arranged for the course to coincide with Gov. John Volpe's designation of May as Medical Self-Help Month. Urged by local Civil Defense and Health Department officials in organizing similar courses to train citizens in essential lifesaving techniques that could be useful in time of natural disasters or enemy attack.

Not unnaturally their interests are in their age group, the problems some teens have, the present state of the courts and aid for those of their age group who are in trouble. If a topic is in the headlines, it is one young adults want to know more about.

During the next six weeks these teams will be studying the armloads of material found. Each will give an oral report to the whole class. In presentations they will use a panel format augmented by audio visual material, much of it prepared by themselves. A written report is compiled by the team and exhibited later at the library.

The Survey

The Town Employees Assoc., advised by Atty. Irving Newman, has embarked upon what appears to be a device to force administration by consensus.

Members of the association and others covered by implementation of the Jacobs' Report, the compensation and pay plan adopted April 1, were asked almost three weeks ago to respond to a list of nine questions clearly phrased to measure discontent with the report and/or the segments of it adopted by Manager Richard Bowen.

Much as we are inclined to give the association's new administration a chance to prove itself, we cannot resist the opinion now that this venture will spawn suspicion and distrust at a greater rate than it will give birth to a new and better era of inter-government cooperation. And a new era is what the employees' top executives promised.

But there is more to question than motivation. Survey procedures have not been such that they inspire full confidence in the results.

To begin with, April 27 was to have been the last day of the survey and all responses were to have been turned over the next day to "an independent committee composed of citizens who are in no way connected with the Town Government . . ." Yet on April 30, Atty. Newman was quoted as saying that the deadline for returning the questionnaires would be "Monday or Tuesday" — May 3-4.

Was the deadline delayed because the association had been hasty and allowed insufficient time for circulation of the queries? Or was it delayed because response was lagging?

Since replies were not turned over to any "independent" committee on the appointed day, since in fact no such committee existed at that juncture, who is to provide impartial clarification on this point?

We suggest that if the Town Employees Assoc. was interested in an "impartial" survey on attitudes toward the Jacobs' Report, it should have sought collaboration with the Board of Selectmen in selection of a qualified committee; that all responses to the questionnaire should have been mailed direct to this committee for tabulation and simultaneous release to both the Selectmen and the association.

But this would have meant some collaboration in the line of questioning too. It is doubtful that the Selectmen could have been persuaded to ask employees, for example, if and how long they were interviewed by the Jacobs' consultant. It is a question which implies that each and every employee, no matter how much his job duplicates another, needs to be interviewed. And it asks a non-professional to judge whether or not he was interviewed long enough to permit a man experienced with personnel studies to evaluate his job.

The survey implies, too, that access to the full Jacobs' Report was denied employees by asking if they believe they, as taxpayers, should be permitted to read it. The fact is that employees who asked to see the report (the firemen, for example) did see it, that it can be read at Town Hall by any taxpayer, and that its recommendations were discussed with department heads and widely published in the press.

The re-classification is complete and has corrected what the consultant and the manager viewed as inequities. The fresh assessment of responsibilities has meant a new spot on the economic ladder for some, and noses out of joint for others. Employees who still consider that the classification undervalued their jobs can, but have not, sought redress through a grievance procedure established in November. Apparently the association survey is intended to air their dissatisfaction.

In spite of what we see as its weaknesses, if the survey can measure the range of discontent (valid or otherwise) among the some 150 town employees covered by the classification plan, it will have served a purpose.

It is just as important that the town realize how many of its employees are happy with their lot as how many are disgruntled.

Did You Know . . .

There will be a greater increase in the number of 18 and 19 year olds in the labor force in 1965 than the increase in this age group during the entire decade of the 1950's. Between 1950 and 1960, the total number of 18 and 19 year olds in the work force rose by 300,000. In the next 12 months, the number will soar by 600,000, from 3.4 million to 4 million. Our conscience and continued economic vitality demand that we assure that these young people be prepared for rewarding jobs so that they are not tomorrow's hard-core unemployed and welfare cases.

To Abraham Lincoln

By A Local Poet

O Brotherman, who though exalted to the highest seat
Of honor that this goodly land can give,
Was yet as common as this Mother Earth
And e'en as wholesome.
What would bring frowns to your deep-furrowed face?
It seems to me 'twould be the hasty judgment of our fellowmen
'By us, who being faulty, magnify
The pettiness of others' words and deeds.

O Lincoln, you, whose love of right and justice
Down to very smallest things,
Made you one most revered of our great men,
'Twould sadden you in these unhappy days
To hear the hateful bickering of the throng
Of those whose vacant minds can only see
The ill in others, where you always sought
The good, however small, and found it too.

Though not a member of a certain church,
His love of all mankind of any creed,
Or race or color, was exemplified
In freeing slaves that they might also be Citizens of this land, America.

And now a hundred years have passed and we still fight,
But his stewardship reaches out, and we will see How great he was in all things worthy,
Showing us the way to be a part, however large or small,
In service for the King.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago — May, 1890

The Phillips Academy students are in need of coal ashes for the Running Track, which is being rapidly built in the field in the rear of the old Mansion House site, and they will be pleased to hear at once from anyone in town who wishes to dispose of their ashes.

Could some of those men who from 1840 to 1870 watched so carefully the expenditure of every cent of money that came into the public coffers of Andover, and who saw the steps of progress so regrettably, have stood in the square last Saturday and seen the torrents of water (from a trail) that filled the air, they would have felt indeed, their most fearful apprehensions were realized. The waterworks of Andover are an assured fact, a most successful operation, and what many men felt to be an extravagant waste becomes more and more a household necessity and pleasure.

It was a happy day (or night) for the Chestnut St. residents yesterday, when they could open their front rooms, raise the shades and behold at last their street illuminated.

50 Years Ago — May, 1915

The prizes offered by the Andover Village Improvement Society for the best bird-houses made by school boys have been awarded as follows: first prize, $1, George Temple; second prize, 50 cents, Gus Brown, Morton Fletcher and Henry Sarrell tied; third prize, Charles Secchini, 35 cents, George Coates, 35 cents and E. Zalla and N. Casson tied, 15 cents each.

Elected officers of the Suffrage League were: president, Mrs. Emma B. Allen; vice president, Mrs. May Evelyn Barnes; secretary, Mrs. Elsie W. Poynter; treasurer, Mrs. George Abbot.

Movie fans can talk of nothing these days but Mary Pickford, and certainly she is a very beautiful girl, if one may judge from her pictures. Andover interest, however, is more acute because of the fact that an Andover boy who went to school here in town, well known to many of the younger people, Edward Hemmer, is now the manager and director of Miss Pickford in her work as a member of the Famous Players Co. of Hollywood, Calif.

Down in Ballardvale during the past week they have held a public meeting to promote the establishment of a swimming pool. . . . We cannot help suggesting to our good friends of Ballardvale, however, that cleanliness is only "next to godliness", and if there is a section of this State where there exists a more flagrant violation of the laws of the State relative to the sale of intoxicating liquors than exists in Ballardvale, and has existed there for many years, we have no knowledge of it . . . through the illegal sale of liquor in debauching people down there. Ballardvale is an unattractive place to live in.

10 Years Ago — May, 1955

Roy E. Hardy, 62, 113 Chestnut St., was pronounced dead on arrival at Lawrence General Hospital late Tuesday afternoon. He was first elected to the board of selectmen and assessors in 1936, retiring voluntarily May 1, 1954. His last four years in office were spent as chairman of both boards.

A difference of opinion over the value of the Esther Smith property on Shawheen Rd., slated to be the site of the new high school, is causing a temporary delay in completing purchase plans. The selectmen are not satisfied with the $35,000 price tag tacked onto it. The assessed valuation of the 74.1 acres is $2,500. Selectman Sidney P. White said we should review all land values, that much of the land is swampy, there are old gravel pits on it and a bog is the back part.

Audubon Census Method Drastic For Bird Lover

If John James Audubon joined one of the bird walks that the Massachusetts Audubon Society will sponsor in 55 communities early in May, the police would have him within an hour.

Audubon had a drastic method of taking bird censuses. As he noted in his Journal: "I call the birds few when I shoot less than 100 per day."

Of a flamingo hunt in the Florida Keys, he wrote: "Each of us, provided with a gun, posted himself behind a bush, and no sooner had the water forced the winged creatures to approach the shore than the work of destruction commenced. When it at length ceased, the collected mass of birds of different kinds looked not unlike a small haystack."

According to his biographer, Alice Ford, Audubon's last words were: "Yes, yes, Billy! You go down that side of Long Pond, and I'll go this side, and we'll get the ducks."

Modern sportsmen would condemn Audubon for his indiscriminate killing. Why, then, did the protectionists who founded the Massachusetts Audubon Society choose the Audubon name to immortalize? They were first in the field in 1896. Even the National Audubon Society came later. They could have chosen any of several famed Massachusetts naturalists to honor.

The answer seems to be that Audubon's works so overshadowed his personality that 45 years after his death he had become a symbol of our vast outdoor heritage. His paintings of birds and animals — and the superb backgrounds in these compositions — had an impact upon the public that a television oriented age fails to appreciate.

Audubon did understand what we now call "ecology" better than most persons in his time — indeed, probably better than most persons in our day. He could not believe that hunting would destroy the passenger pigeons whose multitudes at times blotted out the sun. But, he observed that the ruthless cutting of forests certainly spelled doom for these forest-dwelling birds.

What compassion he showed was largely for mammals, which he understood almost as well as he understood birds. When he journeyed up the Missouri River at the age of 58, his body showing the strain of wilderness living and his keen mind soon to become scattered, he noted that "before many years the buffalo, like the great auk, will have disappeared surely this should not be permitted."

The Audubon talent included the ability to write vigorously. His observations were not without flaw but were remarkable when one considers that he was pioneering. In all, he left a vivid record of the first half of the 19th Century. (Wayne Hanley — Audubon Society)

Sportsmen's Museum Is In Planning

A shorter-than-legal length bass caught by President Cleveland, ancient historical photographs, a muzzle loading fowling piece once used by Daniel Webster, and minutes of the early sportsmen's organizations in Mass. form the nucleus of what State Fish and Game Director Jim Shepard hopes will become a unique museum of memorabilia of hunting, fishing and trapping in the Bay State.

First suggested by Mike Beatrice, outdoor writer of the Boston Globe, the museum will be in charge of Jim McDonough of the division and will be located at the Division of Fisheries and Game's field headquarters in Westboro. Establishment of the collection of historical interest for sportsmen is in celebration of the division's 100th anniversary, being observed this year.

Shepard and Beatrice feel that the special character and nostalgia of hunting and fishing in Massachusetts is fast being swallowed up by modern times. They said that much of the quality of sportsmanship, and the special flavor of outdoor sports in the past 100 years or more, will be lost unless something is done to preserve it. A sportsmen's museum, to preserve permanently for public exhibit items of special historical interest connected with hunting, fishing or trapping, or examples of outdoor equipment no longer in common use, will do much to further interest in the sports as well as remind tomorrow's outdoor sportsmen of the special ritage that is theirs.

The Merrimack Valley Bird Club will hold its fourth and final walk of the 1965 season Sunday at Harold Parker State Forest in conjunction with the Massachusetts Audubon Society State-wide Bird Walks.

Members and others interested are to meet at the forest headquarters near Stearns Pond at 6 a.m.

More than 40 birders joined the group for the third walk in North Andover and West Boxford last week. In spite of good spring weather, the club did not spot the wave of spring migrants hope for. They reported only 46 species, among them herring gulls, a pheasant, a chimney swift, a Nashville warbler and a white breasted nuthatch.

nilworth St., chairman of the biology department at Merrimack College since September; Robert Harry Roth, 4 Myles Cir., of Temple Emanuel, Lawrence; and Rev. Keith Munson of North Andover, minister for the Unitarian Universalist Church here.

Called for a special session Tuesday, the Employees Assoc. accepted the written resignation of Vice President Francis M. Bailey Sr., who said he was vacating the post because of his belief that the organization's top executives should be from different departments.

Bailey and President Robert Volker, both from the Department of Public Works, were elected last month. At the time it was considered that they rode in a wave of discontent among DPW men over the limited pay increases some received with implementation of the new classification and pay plan.

Tuesday's meeting is the first in recollect history to be open to the press.

President Volker outlined the and the executive board's plans for broadening the interests of the organization in "working for the community," he said "for the mutual benefit of everyone involved, and not only ourselves as it has been in the past."

Community projects will include scholarships, Christmas baskets, summer camp scholarships for children etc.

Among committees to be organized will be one on research to keep members posted on legislation before the General Court and assemble material relative to local working conditions, employees pensions and Civil Service. A publicity committee will be named to keep the public aware of association of activities, release news with the president's approval and prepare a brochure about town employees.

Also to be appointed, a ways and means committee, a social committee, a salary committee, a speaker's committee to arrange programs and a visiting committee.

Introduced by Volker, Atty. Newman told the 30 members present, "If you want to earn the respect of this community . . . you've got to work at it . . . you've got to deserve it."

In reporting on progress with the survey, Newman said the association is going to "take sharp issue" with the town manager's grievance procedure and bear down on the right of workers' to have representation.

He said he would also be concerned with classification to determine if what has been done legally, by statute or with the regard for the men's contractual rights.

Members voted a four dollar special assessment for this year to help finance planned programs and a decision was made that only paid members will be admitted to future meetings. There was support for raising the one dollar membership fee to five dollars for 1966.

First Lieutenant Thomas A. McKittrick Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. McKittrick of 14 Walnut Ave., has arrived for duty at Keesler AFB, Miss., after a tour of service in Turkey.

MISS BETTY COUILLIARD

Miss Travel

The Sutton Travel Service was founded in 1908 by William Sutton. Before his death in 1956, he had crossed the Atlantic 43 times. His granddaughter, the present manager of the firm, Miss Betty Couillard, is certainly totally immersed in her chosen field. She was on the first inaugural jet that crossed the Atlantic. That was by Sabena Air Lines. She was a passenger on the nuclear ship on its pre-inaugural run from Baltimore to Boston. She was caught in a revolution in Damascus on one trip, and has visited almost every section of the globe. Her firm wrote the longest ticket ever handled by Pan American. It included 69 legs and covered eight months. Her firm has had the privilege of handling immigrants from Iron Curtain Countries, including many children brought over for adoption. The Andover Branch of Sutton Travel has operated since 1963, and the beautiful new Lawrence office at 21 Lawrence Street opened just a short time ago. In addition to her travel interests, Betty saves stamps, is an amateur photographer and does oil painting. She's a member of the Quota Club and is a past treasurer of the Women in Travel of Boston. Miss Edith Stuart is the firm's Andover Manager and Mrs. M. Elsie Paul is the Assistant manager of the main branch. The Sutton folks plan many of their own tours, and are now planning one to Hawaii. Now is the time to visit Sutton Travel for your vacation trip.

RAGTOP

For all you lucky folks who can let the top down on the car without the use of a can opener or a blowtorch, the sunny days ahead will have much in store for you. But is that top getting a bit ragged around the edges, the rear zipper sticky and the rear window a little hard to see out? Then, now's the time to visit the folks at 165 South Broadway, Lawrence, COLUMBIA AUTO SEAT COVERS is a firm that can put that top back into tip-top shape. There is a wide selection of colors and materials to suit any budget and any auto. A new top from COLUMBIA AUTO SEAT COVERS will fit as well as a top that came straight from Detroit - if not a little better. Yes, when the rain starts and you can feel water dripping down your neck while you're driving - it's time to get that convertible top replaced. And while anyone can put a top on, more or less, don't settle for a more or less job - get the best at COLUMBIA AUTO SEAT COVERS, 165 South Broadway, Lawrence.

FUNERAL FUNCTION

After the immediate needs of the bereaved family have been attended to, the first thing to do is to call the funeral director. He will promptly make available to you all his services, all his facilities, all his experience, all his professional skills. He will competently assume many responsibilities and carry out many duties which otherwise would fall on your shoulders.

It is well to keep in mind certain factors which influence, or perhaps govern, the funeral director's services. First and foremost is his wish to please you and the family. He can do this best if you will cooperate fully with him and make known to him your wants and instructions. Secondly, your religious faith requires adherence to certain practices and local customs. And, thirdly, there are the limitations imposed by local, state and federal laws. Your funeral director will know what can be done and how best to arrange a complete funeral service tailored to your needs which will reflect dignity and reverence.

In the Greater Lawrence area, Frederick E. Allen, Funeral Director, 402 Broadway, Lawrence, has the professional experience and facilities that most aid in time of bereavement. His number is 683-2427.

HAMBURGERS

"What are little boys made of?" The answer to that old question is more apt to be "hamburgers" than "snips and snails and puppy dog tails." According to the research staff of the McDONALD'S chain of hamburger restaurants, the average American boy under 10 years of age easily eats his weight in hamburgers in the course of a year. At the most conservative estimate, a 7 year old boy weighing 55 pounds would put away a little more than a pound of hamburger a week - and incidentally, that's counting meat alone, not buns. Adults? Well, they do all right in the hamburger department too, in fact, the average American ate 182 hamburgers last year. It seems that everybody likes hamburgers - and happily, everybody likes McDONALD'S HAMBURGERS!! There is a McDONALD'S hamburger restaurant right here in Andover. Try them soon for a treat for the entire family.

EXTRAORDINARY

Their guarantee saves you money and worry. Each user of a new Sonotone receives the Sonotone Guarantee of Service. This is your assurance that the Better Hearing Program will be carried out. This is not the usual "warranty" or just an offer of free replacement of defective parts. The Sonotone Guarantee provides the purchaser, when in need of instrument service, with "either a repair or exchange of this instrument of same model in serviceable condition." This service is "to be without cost to the user, except for any postage charges connected with handling thereof. The intent of this guarantee is to provide the user with a serviceable instrument with The Least Possible Hearing Interruption." The original Guarantee issued for a 12 month period, may be renewed upon payment of a fee, thus continuing all of the original benefits. And this renewal may be made at any time, even months after the original Guarantee has lapsed. We know of no plan for delivering uninterrupted hearing or for providing continuous protection, in this or any other field of service or business, which gives the purchaser such a sense of security as is provided by the Sonotone Lifetime Program for Better Hearing. See Sonotone of Lawrence, 301 Essex Street.

Visiting Nurse Assoc. Celebrates 15th Year

The Visiting Nurse Assoc. met Tuesday for its 15th Anniversary and a tribute to its one-woman staff, Helen L. Woodbury, R.N. The association dates to 1950 when it was organized under the sponsorship of the Andover Service Club. Since 1954 it has been a United Fund agency.

At the annual meeting, members re-elected the full slate of 1964 officers and directors. Donald Sagaser is president, Dr. Robert Ramsdell, vice president, Betty Nadeau, secretary and Douglas Dunbar, treasurer.

Two new directors elected are Mrs. Benjamin Slade and Mrs. James Wilson. Re-elected to the board were:

Dr. William Emmons, Donald Sagaser, Mrs. Frederick Butler, Eugene Bernardin Jr., Dr. William Caverly, Mrs. Richard Moody, Dr. Robert Ramsdell, Dr. Douglas Dunbar, Mrs. John Bolton, Dr. Thomas Lamson, Mrs. Rita Leigh, Mr. Burton Jenkins, Dr. Michael Gravalles, Will G. Brown Jr., John N. Cole 2nd, Irving Whitcomb, Betty Nadeau, Douglas Dunbar, Dr. Robert Clifton.

Officers and directors of the group, represented by Irving Whitcomb who was the first president, presented Nurse Woodbury with a gift to commemorate her 15 years work with the organization.

Sports' Dinner Tickets Ready

The annual All-Sports Banquet of the Andover Boosters Inc. will be held May 27, in the high school cafeteria at 6:30 p.m.

Tickets are available at the athletic director's office or from officers before May 14, the final deadline being May 21. Tickets are not to be sold at the door.

At the Booster's recent annual meeting the following officers were elected: Albert R. Swenson, president; Robert B. McIntyre, 1st vice president; Weston D. Eastman, 2nd vice president; Thomas R. Wallace, secretary; Homer C. Wadman, treasurer; Walter Pearson, Edward V. Seero, Thomas S. Marjerson Jr., and John E. Rooks, board of directors.

In 1964 she made 1,184 home visits and 150 office visits on behalf residents using the service. The nurse works to supplement the work of doctors in the care and comfort of the sick, a service performed here prior to 1950 by the Red Cross. At that time the national RC program was dropped and emphasis placed on disaster relief and aid to service men, making it necessary for a new organization to take on the project or see it discontinued.

The nurse performs such functions as changing surgical dressings, giving hypodermics, caring for new-born children, the aged etc.

Twenty-three percent of diphtheria cases occur among persons beyond high school age.

Committee Eyes River

The Andover Conservation Commission held its May meeting at Reichhold Chemical Co., inspecting the factory and grounds. Special attention was given to processes and facilities installed to prevent pollution of the Shawshen River, particularly new lagoons used to hold chemicals and prevent their leeching into the river.

The commission reports that state health officials are making regular samplings, and that the state Board of Health has been urged to take steps to control pollution of the river above Andover. Fish kills which have alarmed Andover residents and led previously to charges that local industry was responsible occurred further upstream, according to a commission spokesman.

A state official told local health and conservation officials recently that a Tewksbury laundry was known to be releasing detergents into the river and that Tewksbury State Hospital was not purifying its waste during winter months and up through May.

FOR THE MAN who has never been satisfied with his shirts

Since we know that dress shirts seem to be one of man's few remaining prerogatives in a woman's world, we take special pride in extending our commitment to cleanliness to your shirts. We know full well that your shirt is your daily badge of arrival in the business world and that it should be a perfect badge gleaming in its whiteness or subdued in its hue, comfortably wrinkle-free, complete with all its buttons and as soft or as well starched as you want it.

Realizing that shirts are almost always needed "by today or tomorrow at the latest", we quick-service your laundering whenever you want it — again at no extra cost.

We wash each shirt with the proficiency many years of professional experience can summon. Pure gentle suds and pure water of just the right temperature all combine to provide a most exacting washing.

After drying until they have that fresh-as-air clean, clean smell, your shirts are gently placed lengthwise in baskets and trundled off to a battery of women — trained specialists who smooth the way to shirt splendor. There are four separate pressings. First, the sleeves are form-pressed for wrinkle-free smoothness right to the cuff. Next, the cuffs are pressed around to fit the wrist. Then, the collar is pressed round and sloping to conform with natural neck shape, using the exclusive "shirt with the sleeping collar". Finally, the body of the shirt is shaped. The shirts are automatically folded with a snap-up, tuck-in, fold-under action that does away with annoying wrinkles. Then they are neatly slipped into individual plastic bags to keep them spanking fresh until you receive them in your convenient shirt package.
